

Conférence « Eaux souterraines, clé des objectifs du développement durable »

International Conference – « Groundwater, key to the sustainable development goals”

Round table organized by Nestlé Waters and Danone 18th May 2:45 PM -4:00 PM

Topic : Assessment of collective actions benefits at local scale on groundwater preservation and governance, linked to SDGs.

Room 116

Moderator Facilitator : Nathalie Dörfliger (Danone), François Négro and Cédric Egger (Nestlé Waters)

Panelists – intervention order:

Anteagroup (Water savings and stewardship to reduce groundwater abstraction by industrials) – Nadia JEBBOUR | Water Sustainability Lead

Danone (benefits of collective actions of watershed preservation in groundwater governance with two examples, evian impluvium and AQUA Danone in Indonesia, Java) Nathalie Dörfliger | Watershed Sciences and Stewardship Director,

Advanced Center for Water Resources Development and Management (ACWADAM)- (The plurality of trajectories towards local groundwater governance: concepts, approaches, and strategies of community management of groundwater from India) Himanshu Kulkarni | Executive Director

Nestlé (Regeneration & VWBA methodology: concept & examples, + Vittel case on governance) - Cédric Egger | Head of Sustainability Nestlé Waters, François Négro | Hydrogeologist

Martin Luther University Halle-Wittenberg | Germany (Collective action as behavioral and institutional change: lessons from experiential interventions in groundwater governance) Ilkhom Soliev | Senior Researcher & Lecturer Behavior and Institutions in Social-Environmental Research

2 round of questions and 1 round of interaction with the audience